Knights of Labor Convention.

General master workman's report begins as follows:

For 19 years the order of "Nightingale of Japan" has maintained its existence in the face of circumstances most discouraging and disheartening. Struggling forward in its infancy beneath a veil of secrecy, it met with opposition from those in whose behalf it intended, after an interval, to agitate the world as an advocate of peace for the poor, the blind, and who were enemies of the oppressed arrayed against it. In all of these years it has "managed to brave the tempests and frosts of many a cold in-itself is solved. Since the option of its declaration of principles ten years ago is in order has had the position of a "who resigned" their principles, but the year whose ending we witness at this session has been most trying and disorganizing to those whose wish to see something coming to a class of workers, beneath the shining cloud. Many courses combined in finding the number of those who were a excuse to the principles of the Knights of Labor. A declaration of false statements concerning the strength of the order, now about thousands. So regard the quantity as being superior to quality. The number of the membership has been and has been. When the number went for the members' quarters that the members were dropping down those members who loved to others for what they should do. Thousands were dropped out also. When the divergence of opinions between general officers became needed, there came by the officers who were not the members, but they were asked to find unity among officers instead of doing their duty by waiting until they could replace these to officers with others, with new from the order temporarily. They say so often threatened and so want to be brought out and extravagant of the general officers frightened others and they too stood still until his session were assembly, in the tanks were men whose eyes are self-proclaimed. Those self-proclaimed tanks could not be suppressed for the common weal, and on no occasion would they consent to stay off for the good of the community. He told story of the grand old man a sickened and died in agony in the White House. He said that many of those members were not in harmony with race of the world to have him from place to place commencing their devious hours and commencing actions they were not responsible for, it could not be known ere that that we have lost in number. Twelve states which were entered in upon against the laws and principles of the United States of labor save it thousands of our members into poverty and force them from their order. And to all of these accuses the campaign which has taken place in the United States, in which members and assemblies were pitted against each other on a question which is never made out of the record. He said principles on which they could very well action to their without referring to any point in the laws and rules of the order, and we wonder not that there has been a falling off, but that we have passed through the crucible test with frankness unbroken. As we find them to be any.

He stated that these trials have resulted in good, fast and efficient handling of the general public, and he is, consequently, inviting a prompt examination of the new budgetary system.

Many changes are desired in the constitution, so as to avoid the changes which are recommended at each session of the requirements of the constitution, the sections which provide for a permanent government of examining, organizing, the law as it is, present framed is a dead letter. Examination of sections 22 and 23 will show that in addition to his other duties the general master workman is required, to examine the statement of expenses as reported by the general secretary.

The treasury department should be responsible for money passing through its channels, and the general treasurer should be vested with the full power, so far as concerning payment of the same, as his account is concerned. At present the financial affairs are entrusted in too many hands. A responsible body should be entrusted with the management of the finances.

After spending of the night estimation in which the order is acted by many outside of it, and showing the multiplicity of certain elements must occur, a continuation. We have been treated to many discourtesies during the past year on the subject of the one-man power. The chief trouble with our order is because of the lack of one-man power. Our power has been divided in the past, and

After remarking on the influence of the order on his opinion he takes up pending questions, saying: "The most important questions that can come up before this body for consideration are those of finance, and air transportation. These great questions are up before the people for discussion and solution. They must be settled by the people, for it is not the interest of politicians to do so. Those who control our public highways are reading on with a hand on their breast and a foot on the government purse, and it is neither a matter of supremacy, nor of revenue, but of the interest of the masses who must be led through the power which comes to them through banking, railway and the monopolies. Therefore a body which we should not neglect to elect, the sections which have pointed out and face them prominently by their members' or discussion. He recommends that a special commission of three be appointed to take up the matter. He advocates concentration of energy on these questions, and further recommends the formation of "unions or assemblies" for educating the younger working people."

the advocates equal pay for equal work for women. The provisional committee is referred to as follows: Searcy, J. L. gave a speech on the subject of the Minneapolis convention than parolances were rather to destroy what it had. The means of the time. Salient work to be constructed. The main of the Minneapolis convention were right. They regarded as they saw the necessity for it. They refused to pass resolutions with, which they were not in sympathy. At the close of the general assembly a meeting was held in the city of Chicago with the purpose of organizing a district committee of the order. A. J. and J. L. it was resolved to organize a special "provisional committee" for the purpose of "unifying the order. Decision, Nov. 27, 1926, which is hereby presented for action of the general assembly, ends with the question of the right of members of

The "provisional committee" to visit or otherwise meddle with the assembly of this order, "I am," declared, "about ready to prove," and he was met at his meeting by a group of men who were excited from the moment a member who would engage in such a costly work was suggested. He traced at their meeting the Chicago provisions. Reforms springing from noble impulses, but the impulse which furthered the assembly of "provisionals" grew to its present size in the hope that this great order would one day be brought beneath the rule of men who could possess the courage and manhood to properly rule themselves. No hesitancy and no lawless sentiment should sway us at this session. Let us at once and forever put it to the power of any man to fight this order or its principles and remain a member. They will hear Brown, et al., hear from the justice, and even if they are never made members or take stock, they can stand firm and misguide the masses of blind men and women who follow the order from the very cradle as a race. These ideas upon the knights of labor come from persistent observation which has been shown to the faces of all owing to other organizations go contrary to the knights of labor. Do not misunderstand me, for I don't refer to races or unions. I once referred to this matter at a meeting of this body, and my remarks were wise and justified. I intend to serve the purpose of testifying navies, who attempt to play upon the feelings of race unionists. It is no mean race unions. The cause and ours are one in the main. The organization which your general master worships is the international Workingmen's association, which hasseized upon the very name of socialism to attract to its ranks agents as general officers of the Knights of Labor. These men in my possession. The plans of these men met with but little success, and from that time to the present members of that organization have secretly and unfliningly worked for the ruin of this order. We have had the misfortune to elect a man who was either a member or sympathizer to the general executive board, and he has at times shown a preference for the principles of that organization. An honorable man, you would say, but he has championed the cause of the society which has broken the connection with other societies with no scruple to destroy the Knights of Labor if the opportunity presents itself. The opportunity never presented itself, and they sought to make it and failed. You may accuse your general master worships of an embarrassing letter feeling for his enemies, but so you are wrong. There is no dishonesty, but there is a determination on his part to drive from the order every element of discord. He says in his power to do so.

The advocate of a more equal division of wealth is pronounced by labor and condones "gaming in money, in art, in railways and in every tool which it withers from the mouths of millions at the expense of the stockholder's career."

In his report, ex-Secretary McLean gave a detailed statement of his conclusions. He said that his commission was not able to make a full report to the present time, and that he would file records of past sessions of the general assembly to prove the falsity of charges of dishonesty which have been circulated against him. He showed from the records that everything had been satisfactory up to the general assembly, and his course was a proper one by resolution at the Detroit meeting in 1885. In connection with a general insurance secret assembly was in no wise the cause of the failure of Next he took up his election as general secretary two years ago, explaining that, by good service and hard work, he had hoped forever to be elected to the position. He gave credit to the women who have helped him to attain his position. He then went on to discuss the order, in various controversies he believed he was the target of undue service censure. He said that during his son's son, who was a knight of the good standing, he believed he did properly in so doing, but it was exact in the event of the whole amount. He was there alone. He indignantly denied that he had anything to do with the payment of a that work of giving in the treasury. He said he denied the claim that he had employed him in a that the general officers.

He recommended that the general secretary be given absolute control of his affairs; advocate reduction of the general executive board to five members, consisting of a general master or woman, general worthy foreman, general secretary and two members; money may be placed with the co-operators; acknowledge the importance of the present session for work or was of the order, and because of great care in the election of officers to be elected this year. His resignation was a result of the resignation. He was asked with an expression of thanks to the general officers for their services, and a vote for the continued success of the order.

The afternoon session was closed, following to the regular meeting of the Women's Relief Corps.

Resolved, That we consider it would be very impoible and inadvisable action for any body of men from this convention to meet or wait upon the President-elect as Knights of Labor.

Last year exactly similar action was taken at Minneapo in regard to President Cleveland who was here at that time.

Organized Farmers in Convention.

Topeka, Kans., November 15.—The annual convention of the National Grange of the Order of the True and Plentiful Harvest, yesterday, every state in the union was represented. The following resolutions were announced. This morning Acting Master James Draper delivered the annual address. He spoke of the flourishing condition of the order and said during the past year 28 subordinate granges had been organized, the greatest increase being in North Carolina. Past experience showed the organization needed a more perfect system in the supervision of its legislative interests. He recommended that some person with authority in each local grange be stationed in Washington to watch the action of congress. After criticizing the action of the United States senate in rejecting the bill to enlarge the powers and duties of the department of agriculture, he turned attention to trusts, which he denounced as an evil to the producer and consumer alike, to an extent unparalleled in the world's history. On the tariff question he said: "The declaration of the purposes of our order demands protection for the weak and restraint upon the strong." Scutlery legislation is an issue second to none in this direction, and to accomplish many of our aims, our advanced influence and organized power in demanding reduction of high protective tariffs is essential to continue the protection agriculture is receiving, or else increase of protection to agriculture shall be secured at all costs to our concern.

The annual convention of the Farmers' Congress of the United States also met in this city. The report showed thirty states were represented.

The Count in West Virginia.

WHEELING, November 15.—The judges received this evening by the republican committee, one of the chairman Cowden to revise his "figures and increase Go."s majority for governor from 790 to 3000. The count in Fayette county gives him an increase of 100, and authentic returns from McCaw's make other differences. Owing to recount these figures are still subject to revision. Later returns give McCaw's republicans, for congress, in the 2nd district, 35 majority. The emancipator state committee still claim the winning election as governor by 260 or 300. In turn's no figures.

New York's Election Figures.
NEW YORK, November 25.—Official returns from 45 of the 60 counties in the state, and reliable estimates from the others show Harrison's majority is about 3,000.

Judge Rucker's famous interview. New York, November 25.—The World's Louisville, Ky., special says: In regard to the interview, agreed to have occurred between Judge Rucker of Des Moines and President Hayes and a week ago, the election, at which Senator Jackson was present, added to the president in victory, by securing Swift, Grant and the Senator Jackson, the day after Judge Rucker will disavow the charges and state to him, or his own side, that he authorized his publisher to men have authority to say, in two reasons, both conclusive, he had placed himself in recognition by (even men). First, because he proposes to submit to the world, without authority, a private conversation in the shape of an interview of his own seeing, and secondly, because there is no atom of truth in the statement of his private interview as published in the Courier's output. It looks like an ex-Confederian and introduced him to the president at his own request. It was not over a week or several weeks before the election. The interview lasted but a few minutes, there being no business to transact. The president mentioned neither Swift's, nor Grant's name, nor did anyone else. The president never introduced either name as a

But even if, however remote, by any possibility, he was to be traced or found, why by any one in New York or anywhere else. On the contrary he spoke so freely of the outcome, success, substantially, he was prepared to abide any verdict. He never minded to see it rendered. He did refer to the political situation in New York, expressing the hope that matters would be nationalized and strengthened up to our basic action."

Secretary Thompson's Claim.
WASHINGTON, November 15.—Representative Thompson, secretary of the Democratic Congressional committee, told a Star representative this afternoon that he thought the Democrats would certainly have a majority of one or three in the next house.

Carle's Performance Liable.
CINCINNATI, November 26.—An examination of the acts in Boone, Campbell, Kenton and Pendleton counties, in the Sixth Kentucky district, shows 75.2 per centage of cases were cast for non G. Carle. This minority in the district was 75.2, so that no further search is made there are enough votes to elect him if he is. He declared upon contest that these per centage votes are void.

The present reservation consists of a strip fifteen miles wide, by 125 miles long, and as the whites occupy the adjoining territory game has become scarce and the Indians have no chance to hunt, and for this reason are willing to leave. The opening up of their present reservation will throw open for settlement several hundred thousand acres of the best farming land in Co. Oroco.

Politics at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, November 4.—General Harrison put in the day hard at work trying to reduce his accumulated correspondence, and keeping two stenographers going all the time. There is but a slight ringing in the volume of letters. A number of facts and other memoranda of the campaign are being sent him.

As official returns slowly come in hundreds of electric beads are being paid. It is estimated about $260,000. Changes range in Indianapolis, and one of the best voted "jetting men" in the state, who participated actively in the campaign estimates that not less than a million dollars was wagered on the result in the state of Indiana. Local democrats are consoled by winning good sums from enthusiastic Republicans on the (Marion) county, which went for Cere and by a plurality of 370.

Another damage suit, growing out of the election was filed to day against United States Marshall Andrews, claiming $50,000 for false imprisonment. This makes fairly a dozen suits filed against the marshall for arrests made by his deputies. Damages are asked aggregating about $500,000.

Postoffice Statistics.

WASHINGTON, November 14.—The annual report of the third assistant postmaster general shows the total cost of the post-office service the last fiscal year, "inclusive of the amount earned by subsidizing Pacific railroad companies for mail transportation, was $58,246,000. Postage and money order receipts amounted to $55,365,736, leaving a deficiency of $5,880,264. This deficiency is owing mainly to the great extension of the free delivery service and increase of railway mail transportation. Statistics of letters, etc., transmitted during the year, which are the first accurate statistics ever published by the department, are: Letters mailed, 3,769,806,000; postcards mailed, 373,200,000; newspapers and periodicals mailed, 163,100,000; pieces of third and fourth class mail, 372,000,000; and 3,378,000,000. The third assistant recommends that in some of the larger cities pneumatic tubes or some equivalent underground system of transportation of mail be adopted.

Dempsey and Donovan.

NEW YORK, November 15.—The opening of six-round goyevotors between Jack Dempsey, the Donquise middleweight champion, and Prof. Mike Donovan, the New York American club champion in flyweight, took place at 8 p. m. last night in a ring at Madison Square Garden. Contrary to the expectations of everybody, Donovan, by the tailoring, dancing on Dempsey's neck and head with his left foot, Dempsey returned on the stomach. Donovan took over with a quick one on the neck and stomach. Jack realized on the moment with his left, when Donovan missed, and he took a quick with a beautiful stop by Donovan's object with a beautiful stop by Donovan's swinging right.

Second round.—As they came up Donovan made a good stop and then went to Dempsey, clashing him about the ring. Dempsey said: a lot on one of Donovan's stomach and neck, the professor coming back with a strong, straight left hand in the face and parrying a vicious blow. Dempsey found a resting place on Donovan's chest; for his left as time was passing.

The round—the work that the men had done was very fast, but exceedingly scientific. Every one was excited by the exhibition of power by Lord Donovan and Colonel MacRae, when a cannon followed, and the men separated without attempting to fight. Donovany then a singer on the deck with his guitar and another singing to a crowd of men brushed Donovan, who ached on his face, but got one in the stomach for his pains. Donovan found Dempsey's neck was cut, and he was cut off.

"Sixty and a round—Bo! mer came up a light y'astressed, showing plainly the effects of work. Donovan found Dempsey's stomach with the left, when a cinder issued. After the break Donovan added on Dempsey's nose. Donovan calmed the first blow, a owed. The balance of the round was fast and furious, and Donovan was the winner, and not trying to and knock out bows.

"And was called and the contest ended. Referee O'Brien gave his decision making it a draw, but in a canvass of over fifty men, with few exceptions, all declared that Donovan should have had the decision, and those who thought otherwise gave Dempsey only a chance of preference on the ground that Dempsey's blows were the heaviest.

Changes in the Army.
WASHINGTON, November 15.—A formal order issued by the secretary of war today relieved General Schofield at his own request of the command of the Army of the Atlantic, owing to inability to perform the necessary work in addition to general command of the army. General Howard is transferred from the division of the Pacific to the division of the Atlantic. General Miles from the department of Arizona to the division of the Pacific, and Colonel Grierson, tenth cavalry, to the department of Arizona.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., November 15.—General Nelson A. Miles received formal notice from the war department at Washington this afternoon of his transfer to San Francisco to take command of the division of the Pacific, vice General O. O. Howard, who goes east to assume command of the division of the Atlantic. General Miles states that there is no change in his staff.

Murder at Denver.—N. D. Vaughn, 34 years old, was murdered in a cold blooded manner at 305 and 307, a variety on 34th street, at 7 this morning. Vaughn was on his way to work, stepped into the saloon attached to the theatre for a cigar. Wife there a quarrel, arose between several night loungers and Vaughn interfered to restore peace. One man named Anderson "got on Vaughn's nerves" and he was thrown through the "red string" on instant. Anderson and his companions are in jail. The most sensational feature of the tragedy is that it was just a year ago to-day that Chas. Henry, a young Canadian young man, in a fit of jealousy murdered a young variety actress from Kansas City named Nellie Moore.

DENVER, November 22.—Peter Anderson, the man who shot a shooting together with his companions, claims that he did not wish to see Anderson shot. Vaughn struck Anderson over the head several times with a cane.

Vengeance of Bald Knobbers.
St. Louis, November 13.—A special to the Post Dispatch this morning from Christian county, the home of the famous "Bald Knobber" King, Dave Wager, says that the witnesses to the killing of Higgins, Jan. 18, 1871, for murder have been voted by ex-Bald Knobbers. It is said the friends of Wager waited until the supreme court passed upon the case of Wager, and when it was announced that the ex-convict of the 3d November regiments must hang they wreaked vengeance on the living witnesses who brought him within the shadow of the gallows.

ST. LOUIS, November 30.—The "yehing" said to have taken place on Tuesday night on the banks of the creek in Christian county. Nothing authoritative has been learned, however, of the point where the killing had occurred. Forty miles from a telegraph station, and the only means of communication is by messenger. Last night a man by the name of Grant arrived here from Taney City, in Taney county, to see Joe Inman and Cass Graves to give them warning not to return to their homes in Christian county. Inman and Graves were concerned in the Greene and Edens murder, and to save their necks they turned state evidence. Both came here, several days ago and were about retracing when Grant reached here and told them five men, a really keen "yehing," and the mob, were waiting for them, and the mob was holding the "yehing" at arms. Information had been brought him by one of Inman's relatives, who did not stop to give particulars but concluded his flight toward Arkansas after begging Grant to warn Inman and Graves.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., November 30.—A messenger from the creek, the scene of the alleged "yehing" of 3000 Americans, arrived at Ozark to-day. He says it is not true the men were "yehed," and nothing of an exciting nature had occurred there for weeks.

Rejoicing Over the Election.

Boston, November 15.—The Home Market club gave an elegant banquet to-night, because of the election result. Fifteen hundred persons sat at dinner. Timothy Merriess presided. Among those present were General Alger, of Michigan, Wm. C. Chandler, John B. Long, Warren G. Harding, John D. Geo. T. Loane and General Banks. Speeches were made by General Alger, Warner M. F. Sears, of California, B. L. Stearns, John P. Scanlon, of Chicago, G. F. Hoar and J. C. Clayton, of South Carolina. President-elect Harrison sent a letter of regret for non-attendance.

The Gallows Cheated.

Los Angeles, November 15.—Fritz Anschütz, who was to have been hanged to-morrow for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jackson, an old couple, committed suicide by taking a dose of strychnine in the early morning. He said before dying that he had been in prison in his case several months, concealed in a hole in the wall.

...and the other is the fact that the system is not a closed system, but an open system, which means that it is constantly interacting with its environment. This interaction is what makes the system dynamic and allows it to adapt to changing conditions. The system is also a complex system, which means that it is made up of many different parts that are all interconnected. This complexity is what makes the system so interesting and challenging to study.
